TCP has been tracking the progress of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act as it relates to Conflict Minerals (Section 1502) since 2010. TCP is required to comply with Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Act for fiscal year 2016, which the diligence process remains on-going. In response to customer inquiries, Technical Consumer Products, Inc. is developing a response to Conflict Minerals inquiries so that our customers satisfy their obligations under the Dodd-Frank Act. We are conducting due diligence as to the complicated supply chain leading up to the final TCP product, and complete information will require additional time to obtain. We are continuing to establish processes and infrastructure to ensure that TCP aligns with all requirements of the Act and continues to meet our own high standards of ethical conduct. TCP will provide timely communication to its customers and stakeholders when TCP is able to determine the extent and source of the conflict minerals used in its products (if any).
